Learning about race and Whiteness can be confusing, contentious, and frightening, particularly for White people. Ali Michael invites us to start this conversation with a vision that is worth working for: a healthy multiracial community. Working backwards from that vision, what skills and competencies do White people need in order to be a part of creating that community? What do we need to know about our own history and psychology? Ali Michael is a White woman and will share many stories from her life and research.

"WHAT DO WHITE PEOPLE NEED TO KNOW ABOUT RACE?: HOW TO BE A CONTRIBUTING MEMBER TO A HEALTHY MULTIRACIAL COMMUNITY"

IUPUI White Racial Literacy Project Speakers Series
Thursday, November 14, 2019
Featured Guest

Dr. Ali Michael

WHAT DO WHITE PEOPLE NEED TO KNOW ABOUT RACE?: HOW TO BE A CONTRIBUTING MEMBER TO A HEALTHY MULTIRACIAL COMMUNITY

Learning about race and Whiteness can be confusing, contentious, and frightening, particularly for White people. Ali Michael invites us to start this conversation with a vision that is worth working for: a healthy multiracial community. Working backwards from that vision, what skills and competencies do White people need in order to be a part of creating that community? What do we need to know about our own history and psychology? Ali Michael is a White woman and will share many stories from her life and research.

TIMES AND LOCATION

White Faculty and Staff Caucus (Session 1)
(9:15 am - 11:30 am, UC Room 104)

White Student (graduate and undergraduate) Caucus:
(1:00 pm - 2:30 pm, UC Room 104)

White Faculty and Staff Caucus (Session 2*)
*Same program, but another opportunity for those who could not make it in the morning
(3:00 pm - 4:30 pm, UC Room 101)

If you attended our last speaker series, we encourage you to bring someone with you to engage in the discussion!

Learn More & RSVP @ www.WRLPIUPUI.Weebly.com